Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8, 14-18, and 20-31, drawn to a purified and isolated nucleotide sequence encoding a regulatory protein that is approximately 45 kD, expressed primarily under heat shock conditions, is localized in chloroplasts, has high homology to chloroplast elongation factor EF-Tu from E. coli or tobacco, said nucleotide sequence being capable of hybridizing under conditions of high stringency to SEQ ID NO: 6; or wherein said nucleotide sequence is SEQ ID NO: 5; or an expression cassette comprising said nucleotide sequence; a vector comprising said expression cassette; a prokaryotic or eukaryotic host cell comprising said vector; a method for increasing plant tolerance to heat and drought; a transformed plant which is substantially tolerant or resistant to one or more environmental conditions, cells of said plant comprising a recombinant DNA segment encoding EF-Tu, classified in class 800, subclass 278, for example.
- II. Claims 9-13, drawn to a regulatory protein, classified in class 530, subclass 350, for example.
- III. Claim 19, drawn to a method of identifying heat shock EF-Tu genes in a plant species, classified in class 435, subclass 6, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I-III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions and effects. The nucleotide sequences and method for increasing tolerance to heat and drought of Group I does not require the protein of Group II nor the method of identification of Group III. The protein of Group II does not require the nucleotide sequences or method of Group I nor the method of identification of Group III. The method of Group III does not require transgenic plants or method for increasing tolerance to heat or drought of Group I nor the protein of Group II. Further, the nucleotide and amino acid sequences of all the groups can be produced by alternative means, such as chemical synthesis.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II or III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
